ON AIR

5A Lock Daniel Chun Wang

It was a wonderful experience for me as I have never watched an English radio play before. I liked the play very much because it was so amazing. I loved the actors and actresses because they acted so well.

5C Wu Hin Yeung Timothy

I was so surprised that I was invited to take part in the play. I had to use the instruments to make sound effects and read the scripts aloud. It was fascinating!

5D Kwok Hiu Ching

After watching the Twelfth Night radio play, I have learnt a lot of things about the characters. I was surprised about the love relationships between them. Also, I was impressed by the costumes because they were well-designed and beautiful.

Lui Ming Choi Students Learn To Love

P5 students prepared work to visit the elderly home. This was a great way for the students to be involved in the community and see some direct value to the work they did - all in English. All classes learnt an English song to sing to the elderly and wrote various texts in English before and after the visit. All classes responded well to this authentic work situation and showed their caring side. This can be seen on the students' faces.

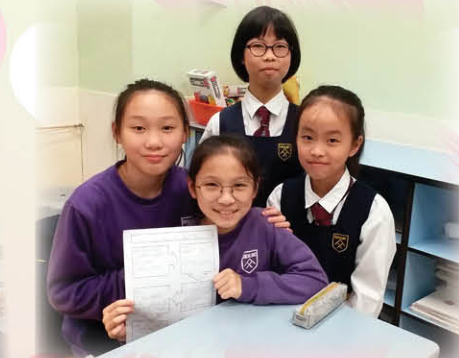

See how we prepared for visiting the elderly.....

We planned the schedule for visiting the elderly home with Mr O'Neil.

Let's show the elderly how to pass the ball.

We finished writing the instructions for the game 'Big Wind Blows'.

We demonstrated how to play the game "Kick the ball".

We practised hard for that BIG day....!

We couldn't wait to serve the elderly.....

We played fun games with the elderly.

We sang songs and prayed for the elderly and we did Easter crafts with them.

We played musical instruments for the elderly.

We performed Tai Chi for the elderly and we gave them presents.

P6 students helped to promote a food bank charity drive throughout the school. Students had to plan their work, write scripts, practise, perform in front of the camera and finally put their recordings into a video. Having an authentic situation to learn from made this a very valuable activity.

We discussed how to make the promotional videos.

We prepared posters to promote the food bank charity drive.

We helped out with collecting food from school students.

One hour drama pre-show workshop

Students learnt how to make and create their own radio show through the interactive workshops. They looked at the props, sound effects, scripts, Shakespeare & the history of radio.

5C Li Yu Hing

From the workshop, I learnt something about costumes, sound effects, old radios and props of a play. Also, I found out some interesting facts about the greatest writer, William Shakespeare. I enjoyed participating in different activities because I had lots of fun!

5B Lee Hei Yui

My favourite part of the workshop was the radio booth because I have never seen an old radio before and didn't know the history of radio. I was amazed by it.

5C So Ally

Before the radio play, we joined the workshop which helped me learn more about what a radio play is. I also learnt more about the English poet, William Shakespeare. I was interested in making sound effects the most.
